Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. §121:

1. Claims 1-5, drawn to a method for determining the radiation sensitization potential of a compound.
2. Claims 6-8, drawn to a method for killing a target cell.
3. Claims 9-10, drawn to a method for killing a tumor cell.
4. Claim 11, a method of treating cancer.
5. Claims 12-19, drawn to a method for killing a target cell in a neoplastic tissue.
6. Claims 20-24, drawn to a method for inducing oxidative stress.
7. Claims 25-26, drawn to a method of treating a mammal bearing neoplastic tissue
8. Claim 27, drawn to a pharmaceutical composition.

The claimed inventions are distinct. Group 1 is distinguished from the others in that Group 1 is an assay method, and Groups 2-7 are drawn to methods of treating diseases or altering physiological function. Group 8 is distinguished from the others in that it is drawn to a composition, rather than a method of use. Group 6 is distinguished from any of 2-5, 7 in that Group 6 is drawn to a method for inducing oxidative stress, rather than to a method of treating a disease or killing a tumor cell.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
